TRAILING THE NO. 1 TIGER

I've been told that a writer must truly experience agony, pain, and other assorted discomforts to really produce a great story. Well, if this is true, what you are about to read should be a blockbuster. Even Dale Carnegie would have to agree that I've earned the right to talk about the subject of this article. Just letting the world know that I am indeed overweight and out-of-shape should be worth that much consideration.

Have you ever tried running for exercise? Until this story assignment came along, my brush with running was limited to a casual attempt to get in shape several years ago. That effort was short-lived, and I had forgotten that unpleasant experience, even the aching legs and lungs which I thought surely would explode, until recent weeks.

My latest encounter with running for exercise began innocently enough as an idea for a feature story about the remarkable physical reconditioning which Clemson President Robert Edwards has achieved through a rigorous program of daily running. What the 60-year-old Edwards has accomplished by determination and just plain hard work and sweat is enough to impress the most stubborn physical fitness skeptic. Not only has he lost 67 pounds and is now a trim 185, Edwards is likely in better physical condition with more stamina than many men half his age, including me.

While most folks are catching an extra forty winks, Edwards is out on the streets of Clemson to fulfill the daily running requirement of his physical fitness program. He runs at least two and a quarter miles every morning, usually before daybreak when traffic is light. On some mornings when he feels especially energetic, he extends his running route to cover three miles. For the few early risers, the orange sweat suit-clad figure running briskly along the roadside has become a familiar sight.

The basis of Edwards' reconditioning program is extensive research done by Dr. Kenneth Cooper while he was an Air Force physician. The magic word is not running however, but aerobics, which literally means "with oxygen." Cooper advocates aerobic or oxygen-demanding exercises—and running is one of the best—to maximize the body's ability to bring in oxygen and deliver it to organs and tissues for use in the energy-producing process.

"Our bodies have a great capacity to store potential energy in the form of fat," says Edwards, "but it has no capacity to store an oxygen supply. It must replenish its supply constantly. This is why Dr. Cooper believes that the key to endurance training is oxygen consumption," says the Clemson president.

Thousands of executives nationwide, like Edwards, have become disciples of aerobic exercises as their bodies have been brought back into excellent physical condition. "The whole cardiovascular and pulmonary systems are strengthened in the process, and better able to withstand the stresses of modern living," says Edwards. "My heart has probably had a year and a half of actual rest over the past six years because a conditioned heart requires less beats to perform its work."

Edwards began his daily routine of running and exercising in May 1968 when, as he says, "there was a lot more of me than there is now." Since then, the pounds have disappeared, but not without a change in eating habits along with the essential discipline and sacrifice. There have been some uncomfortable setbacks along the way too, including shin splints, tendonitis, and a painful toe injury sustained while running on an out-of-town trip. But he didn't quit. "I had determined that I wanted to live a long time in the best health possible. I knew the best thing for me to do was to get myself in shape physically."

Well, somewhere amid my planning for this story, I concluded it was certainly worth more detail than a routine interview could provide. I wanted to capture the real atmosphere of the subject, realizing that this would require some extra legwork as the journalistic parlance goes. But I never dreamed just how much "going the second mile" to get a good story would demand. Anyway, reason was surmounted by foolhardiness and strains of "fools rush in..." I rather challengingly announced to colleagues that I planned to get myself in shape and actually run with the President one morning to chronicle the true flavor of this activity.

The big day soon came for my on-the-road research into running for exercise and aerobics. I had mistakenly figured that the difference in our ages should give me at least a good chance of staying in the running for maybe a mile before I collapsed. It seemed sort of like the home field advantage in football being worth seven points.

The running had barely commenced when I realized I had been in the dark as much over my physical endurance capacity as the darkness we were running in. But I quickly saw the light. Six weeks of preparation for this outing were no match for President Edwards' six and one-half years of running. The whole thing left me breathless. I chose a comfortable spot on the roadside and lifted my head enough to watch him disappear into patches of fog farther down the road.

My ego really wasn't all that bruised. Whether it's football or running, you can't beat six years of conditioning with a few weeks of exercise. But who knows, someday I may ask for a rerun. And I'll know where to get some expert pointers on running.

Bengal Babes Are Recruiter's Dream

Last fall football prospects visiting Clemson were welcomed by a brand new organization of coeds—the Bengal Babes. Ever since that time, the girls have been an important part of Coach Clyde Wrenn's recruiting staff.

Starting at 10 a.m., on the day of home football games, the coeds, with the coaches, greet the recruits and their families for a morning of conversation and coffee. The Bengal Babes' main objective is to make the visitors feel at home and to answer any questions they may have about campus life. The parents have many inquiries concerning such topics as the academic curriculum while the boys delve into more pertinent areas—like the male-female ratio at Clemson.

After lunch the girls take the prospects to see the excitement of a Tiger football game of which they may soon be a part. When the game is over and the recruits have finished talking with the players in the dressing room the Bengal Babes take over again by answering last minute questions or helping with any late problems.

The busy afternoon is over but the Bengal Babes' job is not. A major part of their purpose is to find out all about the recruits' interests, and on Sunday night, Coach Wrenn meets with the girls to hear what they've learned.

The Bengal Babes are indispensable to Coach Wrenn. They not only help him on football weekends, but throughout the year by getting to know the recruits when they visit or through letters filled with news of Clemson. When asked about the Bengal Babes, Coach Wrenn replied: "These girls do a super job of helping recruit. Their love for Clemson is evident in the time and energy spent in this organization."

If a recruit becomes one of the Tigers he finds the Bengal Babes are still behind him. The girls show their Clemson spirit in the weekly decorating of the team's dorm bulletin board during the season and in other innumerable ways, including sending hurt players get well cards.

Clemson football needs the Bengal Babes, which is just fine with them because as head Bengal Babe Susan Murray put it: "We really enjoy meeting the recruits and showing them Clemson, and if we can help the team at the same time—terrific!!"

The South Carolina Series

The State of South Carolina is going through its annual "Division Day" today. You're either for the Tigers or you're for the Gamecocks. It's just that simple.

Wife is against husband, brother against sister, mother against son, neighbor against neighbor, employee against employer—any combination possible would fit the occasion. You are either for 'em or agin 'em.

As always, there is nothing earth shaking that either Coach Red Parker of Clemson or Coach Paul Dietzel of South Carolina will have to say to their players to get the motors revved up. The engines have been tuned all year and this is the big race.

There have been some blowouts on both sides this season, a guard rail or two has been brushed and there have been other breakdowns. But both entries have been in the garage pound this week and everything is honed to the sharpest edge possible.

Don't expect any pit stops. Both will be going flat out for the full distance.

Clemson has already assured itself of a winning season, the first since 1967. A seventh win today would be the most for the Tigers since the Bluebonnet Bowl team of 1959 came up with nine victories.

Because of losses in its first five games, South Carolina cannot record a winning season, but as both coaches said at the beginning of this week: "This is the start of a new season."

For Coach Paul Dietzel, this will be his last game as head coach of the Gamecocks. His intentions to continue on as athletic director only were announced after the second game of the season.

Anyway the cake is sliced Dietzel is all even with the Tigers. In his eight games against Clemson, he is 4-4, and in the four games played in Death Valléy, he is 2-2.

The 20-year coaching veteran lost to Frank Howard in his first trip here in 1966 by a 35-10 score, but came back to take wins in 1968 (7-3) and in 1970 (38-32) before having his record evened in 1972 (7-6) on a cold, rainy Saturday.

Parker hopes to pull shoulder to shoulder with his coaching rival today. His only meeting with Dietzel was last year and the Gamecocks recorded a 32-20 triumph.

For the seniors on both teams, this is the rubber game. South Carolina won when they were sophomores, Clemson won when they were juniors.

Clemson leads the overall series, 40-28-3, and the Tigers have a 4-3 edge in Memorial Stadium since the game was first alternated on a home and home basis in 1960.

But few will think about that today. The only concern right now is who will win this 72nd game.

No. 1 Antrim Drive (By McAlister Square)

Welcome to Clemson Memorial Stadium. We're glad to have you here for another Saturday of Tiger Football and think you'll find the gridiron action among the most exciting in our conference.

There's another kind of excitement on our campus and we invite you to share that too. It has to do with fulfillment on the one hand and with anticipation on the other.

For more than 10 years we have planned our physical expansion to accommodate a student population of about 10,000 by 1975. As you can observe from a glance around you or a drive through the campus, we have several major construction projects under way. Not since the sixties, when the skyline changed dramatically, has there been as much concurrent expansion under way. This year's freshman class will be witness to more completion and initiation of construction during their educational career than any others have seen in a similar four-year period.

Just across the street from you is Fike Recreation Center, headquarters for Clemson's growing intramurals program, which is undergoing major renovation and expansion. The massive new structure at the rear of Fike will contain a swimming pool and diving tank plus other new facilities. In the middle of Johnstone Hall, visible from the loggia area, construction is about half finished on headquarters for Clemson's University Union program. Under renovation, the old Post Office building, now Mell Hall, will soon become offices for the Student Affairs staff.

On west campus an addition to the College of Architecture's Lee Hall is nearing completion. Construction began during the summer on Barre Hall, new home of the College of Forest and Recreation Resources and administrative offices for the College of Agriculture.

October 16 is groundbreaking day for Jordan Hall, a long-awaited and much needed Biological Sciences Center which will rise in the area just above Strode Tower. Nearby is the site for the College of Nursing's new $3.5 million facility which moved from dream to probable reality with the recently announced pledges of federal support totaling $2.2 million. Complete renovation and expansion of Agricultural Engineering's McAdams Hall will be started this year rounding out the planned physical expansion program.

We are equally excited by the continuing development of our academic programs. Perhaps at no other time in its history has Clemson been in a better position to achieve greatness as a university. During the next few years we anticipate significant changes in curriculum content as we are determined to produce the best possible opportunities for our students. One major innovation in a regional sense is the Southern Region Educational Board's Academic Common Market for Graduate Study. This permits a student at one university to enroll in graduate study programs at other universities in other states without paying out-of-state tuition rates. There are 17 such programs in South Carolina; 14 are at Clemson.

Welcome again to our campus. We're happy that you are with us in person today to share the football fun, and hope you'll be with us in spirit tomorrow as we continue our educational mission.

Bill McLellan, Director of Athletics

Clemson's athletic department is moving rapidly in the right direction mainly because it has a superb chief engineer in Bill McLellan, a man who became the school's third director of athletics Feb. 4, 1971.

Since the Hamer native assumed the department's top position, the Tiger sports' program has experienced a major face-lifting, and one which has caused quite a bit of excitement around the school.

Last December McLellan led a contingent into the Frank Johnstone Jervey Athletic Center as Clemson vacated the out-dated facilities of Fike Field House in place of the modern structure that is by far one of the finest in the entire country. Not only does the Center house administrative and coaches' offices, separate dressing facilities for all sports, and the ticket office, but it houses an auxiliary gym with a tartan floor and two playing courts, a dirt area for inside workouts, training and equipment rooms, steam room and sauna bath, in addition to other allied facilities necessary for an efficient athletic operation, including a weight room second to none.

Additionally, since McLellan has been Clemson's director of athletics, the Tiger track team has christened a nine-lane all-weather outdoor facility, the soccer program has developed into one of the best in the nation as the Tig booters have claimed two consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference titles and have been involved in two straight NCAA playoffs, not to mention the progress Clemson's football and basketball programs have made.

On the grid scene, for example, the old wooden seats in Clemson's Memorial Stadium have been replaced by aluminum ones which are more comfortable for the fans, dressing facilities under the stadium for game use by the Tigers and their opponents are second to no one's, and also during the McLellan era, three new practice fields, one equipped with the finest in lighting techniques are just out the door and a few steps away from the dressing areas in the Jervey Center.

Together with the Tiger baseball field, called "the finest playing surface in the South" by professional scouts and opponents as well, the beautiful 10,600-seat Littlejohn Coliseum across the street from the Jervey Center, the tennis complex that includes 14 lighted hard surface courts and a separate tennis house for office and dressing areas, and the new olympic-size swimming pool and separate diving tank which is being completed in Fike Recreation Center, McLellan has been the architect of one of the most modern and rapidly-developing college athletic programs in the nation.

But his sights have been on the entire Clemson family as well as he has been responsible for a tremendous boom in the intramural program for the student body in addition to the faculty and staff members at Tigertown. In fact, it has grown so fast that this program is being headed by three full-time staff members whereas it operated under the guidance of a part-time director just five short years ago. In making improvements for students as fast as he does for the athletic department, McLellan engineered a five-year plan, now in its second year, of mass growth for the intramural-athletic program.

Such is the saga of Bill McLellan, a loyal Clemson man who has been around Tigertown for almost 25 years, which includes his grid career under the legendary Frank Howard.

After earning a pair of football letters and a member of the 1952 Gator Bowl, McLellan graduated from Clemson in 1954 with a BS in agronomy, and with an MS in agricultural economics two years later.

And since his appointment as assistant business manager of athletics in 1958, he has worked his way, through football coaching, IPTAY, administrative and ticket duties, all the way to the top. And because he has worked so hard to put the Tigers on top, he has risen to the top as well. He's done it for one reason, his love for Clemson University.

He is married to the former Ann Rogers of Fork, and they have two daughters, Suzy, a freshman at Winthrop, and Arch Anna, and two sons, Bill and Cliff.

WHO DRINKS?

8 out of 10 men over 21, and 6 out of 10 women over 21 drink alcoholic beverages — at least occasionally. That adds up to almost 100 million people.

Second Offense — Not less than $1,000 fine and/or one year imprisonment (Automatic loss of driver's license for one year)

- KNOW YOUR LIMITS AND STAY WITHIN THEM!

HINTS TO HELP YOU AVOID DRIVING UNDER THE INFLUENCE

- Eat while drinking — food slows down the rate of absorption of alcohol.
- Set a limit as to the number of drinks you'll have and stick to your decision.
- Wait a reasonable period of time after drinking to give your body a chance to reduce alcohol to a safe level before you drive. The Blood Alcohol Content drops about .02% per hour. Contrary to a popular myth, coffee is not a sobering agent.
- Be honest with yourself. If you have had too much, let someone else drive.

COMMON EFFECTS ON DRIVING ABILITY

.02	Mild changes. Bad driving habits are more pronounced.
.05	Driver takes too long to decide in an emergency. Loss of driving skills.
.10	Drunk. Inhibition, judgment and co-ordination seriously affected. Presumed under-the-influence by S.C. law.
.15	All physical and mental faculties affected. Wait 9 to 10 hours before taking wheel.
.40	At this point most drivers have "passed out" into a coma and are on the verge of death.

ALCOHOL SAFETY ACTION PROGRAM

WHY DO PEOPLE DRINK?

Because people like to drink — with MEALS to add a flavor to various foods, with SPORTS with hot dogs and other refreshments, with GUESTS after work to unwind from the day's tensions, at PARTIES to help relax guests and encourage conviviality.

IT'S A FACT . . . drinking beverages with alcoholic content is generally acceptable in the United States today as part of our way of life. And frankly, most people use alcoholic beverages responsibly. Unfortunately, however, there are some people who drink too much and then try to drive.

Last year in South Carolina, there were 85,071 traffic accidents resulting in 967 deaths, 20,440 injuries, and over $180,000,000 lost in property damages. Almost half of the traffic fatalities involved alcohol.

To avoid this kind of tragedy, the safest policy is not to drive after drinking. If you do drink and then drive, KNOW YOUR LIMITS and stay within them.

The Alcohol Safety Action Program (ASAP) is a special effort designed to help reduce alcohol related traffic fatalities. ASAP is not a morality campaign aimed at changing basic social customs, but rather is seeking to help people take more responsibility for their drinking insofar as driving is concerned.

To help you determine your limits, ASAP offers this chart for responsible people who may sometimes drive after drinking!

SUREST POLICY IS — DON'T DRIVE AFTER DRINKING!

Once alcohol has been introduced into the human body, only time and the normal body processes can overcome its effects. No amount of coffee, tea, or other stimulants can prevent the alcohol from taking its course.

A full stomach tends to slow the rate at which alcohol is absorbed into the blood stream, but it doesn't keep the alcohol from reaching the brain. It only delays the process.

The more alcohol there is in the body, the longer a person must wait before he can drive safely. As the blood absorbs more alcohol, the impairment of judgment and skill are increased correspondingly. Therefore, the more alcohol consumed, the longer it takes for the brain to return to normal. The likelihood of a drinking driver having an accident increases as the amount of alcohol in the blood increases.

IMPLIED CONSENT

You are deemed to have given consent to a chemical test to determine the alcoholic content of your blood if you are arrested by a law enforcement officer who has reasonable grounds to believe that you are driving under the influence.

SOUTH CAROLINA LAWS RELATING TO DRIVING UNDER THE INFLUENCE

The operator of a motor vehicle is presumed by law to be impaired when the percent of alcohol in his blood is above the .10 level. (.10 .. 1/10 of 1%)

A drink equals 1 can of beer, 1½ ozs. 80 proof liquor, or 3 ozs. 20% wine.

ARA-Slater's philosophy is a unique, systematic approach designed to achieve our most important goal: STUDENT SATISFACTION. This concept is a result of our experience with millions of students. We have the flexibility to understand your needs and the capability to satisfy them.

At Clemson, ARA demonstrates practical, new methods for providing nourishing, well-balanced meals to athletes, students and staff. Our corporate and regional specialists give ARA's dining service manager expert advice in planning menus, purchasing goods, controlling waste, utilizing labor. The support of this team effort is carried out daily in Schilleter Hall and Harcombe Commons, and at the Clemson House Buffeteria. It is our desire to serve students what they want and to accommodate them by providing this same efficient service for special events or festive holiday meals.

We're here to provide the type of service that will benefit the entire school and community. THAT'S WHAT WE THINK A DINING SERVICE IS ALL ABOUT.

At home in the evening with the entire family is a rarity for Coach Red Parker. But here in a relaxed mood in the Parker den are, left to right, daughter Vicki, son-in-law Phil Wallace, son Jim Mack, Coach Parker, wife Betty and daughter Cindy with the family pooch, Heide.

Whatever you build, build it like you'd recruit your line.

Whether you're building a house, commercial building, or a football line, you want the same qualities: reliability, versatility, strength and staying power.

At Richtex Corporation of Columbia, we build these qualities into our brick with the same enthusiasm with which we support the Clemson Tigers.

Next time you're thinking about building something, think brick. Enjoy the game, and when you think brick, think Richtex.

Red Parker

Head Football Coach

He came to Clemson in December of 1972 with one goal in mind—to put claws back on the Tiger. He installed a new game plan called “Big Red’s Machine—The Tiger Triple,” and with it saw his gridgers amass over 4,000 yards offensively. And in leading his footballers to a 5-6 record he caused opponents to look with respect and sometimes even a fear towards his team.

He’s no miracle worker, but Red Parker is one top notch football coach. And the biggest thing he’s got going for himself is the simple fact that he’s one heck of a guy, and one who is respected by not only his peers, his players, and the fans, but by everyone who comes in contact with him.

With this in mind, it’s no wonder that in 21 previous years in the coaching ranks, the Smilin’ Redhead from Hampton, Ark., has never served as anything less than a head coach, and that he has posted an overall record of 148-71-6, including a collegiate won-lost mark of 73-59-2.

A football, baseball, and track letterman at Arkansas A&M, Parker graduated in 1953 and at the ripe young age of 21, assumed the grid reins at Fordyce, Ark., High School, a school that was carrying a 22-game losing streak.

However, by the time the Redhead had worked his successful formula for winning into his eight-year stay at Fordyce, his grid achievements included a 37-game winning skein and a sparkling overall record of 75-12-4.

But the high school’s loss was a definite plus on the side of his alma mater as Parker returned to Arkansas A&M in 1961 to head up the grid fortunes. And although he ended a five-year stay with a 29-19-2 mark, his last three campaigns were by far his best, as Parker’s ’63, ’64, and ’65 teams posted a fine 24-5-1 record and had claimed a pair of conference championships.

The Redhead then journeyed to the State of South Carolina and took over the football duties at The Citadel in 1966, and remained at the Charleston institution through the 1972 season.

After installing a veer offense for the Bulldogs, Parker’s Cadets became the bully of the Southern Conference, and his 1971 team, which scored 366 points and posted an 8-3 mark, had 5,030 yards of real estate to rank the school fourth in the nation in the total offense department. A seven-year stand at The Citadel by Parker gave the ’Dogs a 39-34 record—a mighty fine showing for a school with 2,000 men and one which could only promise a recruit that he would leave the school as a man.

Then came Tiger town. He made no promises prior to his first season other than issuing a warning to opponents that the Tigers would be no easy game. The ’73 footballers won three more games than pre-season prognosticators said they would, and Clemson finished a strong third in the Atlantic Coast Conference behind N. C. State and Maryland, both of whom went on to post-season bowls.

Moreover, the Tigs produced 231 points last fall, more than any other Clemson team had managed since the ’59 Bluebonnet Bowl champs scored 285. And most of all, every single member of last year’s team had one heck of a time playing for one heck of a coach.

And to coin an old Parker phrase, “A dollar to a donut” says that the Tigers will get better and better each year that the Redhead is at the helm. That’s why folks are saying, in reference to the upcoming season, “Excitement Galore—Clemson Football ’74.”

Parker is married to the former Betty Goggans of Rison, Ark., and they have two daughters, Vicki and Cindy, and a son, Jim Mack.

CLEMSON BASKETBALL '74-'75

Tates Locke called it one year ago when he said "This is the beginning of a new era in Clemson basketball history."

It was one year ago when the Tiger boss landed 7-1 Wayne "Tree" Rollins, a youngster out of the small town of Cordele, Ga.; and it was one year ago that Clemson's big center, in only his freshman year, led the Tigers to a 14-12 record, marking the first winning season for Clemson since the 1966-67 cagers went 17-8.

Starting in all 26 varsity games, Tree paced the Tigers in shooting percentage (.543) from the floor and rebounding (12.2), and was second in scoring with a 12.4 mark. Additionally, he blocked 106 shots and was tabbed as the premier big man in the rugged Atlantic Coast Conference, the nation's toughest cage league, by Maryland All-American Len Elmore.

But planted around the Tigers' Tree are some other experienced performers, headed by co-captains Van Gregg and 6-9 forward Wayne Croft.

Gregg has led Clemson's scoring attack the past two seasons, pumping in an average of 13.8 points per game last winter, and Croft, after a mediocre sophomore year, turned in what has to be the greatest turnaround ever by an ACC performer.

Not only did Croft average 11.2 points a contest, but he was second to Tree in rebounding with an 8.0 mark, and together with Rollins gave Clemson a rugged one-two inside punch.

Returning lettermen include 6-1 Jo Jo Bethea (3.3), 6-9 Scott Conant (2.9), 6-0 Bruce Harman (3.7), 6-8 Marty Patterson (3.7), and 6-9 Charlie Rogers (5.5).

And up from last year's Cub unit are 6-8 David Brown (16.1), 6-6 Andy Butchko (11.1), 5-11 Kenny Davis (13.2), and 6-2 John Franken (15.7).

Moreover, Locke has gone out and turned in the best overall recruiting job ever in Tiger cage history, as the fifth-year coach landed two bona fide prep All-Americans, and a pair of others with credentials that would put a flutter in the hearts of most coaches.

Stan Rome brings to Tigertown a 32 point per game scoring average and the award as the nation's best athlete as selected by PARADE Magazine.

At 6-5, Rome was All-American in both football and basketball at Valdosta, Ga., High School, and if he plays in the backcourt he could team up with 6-4 Baltimore, Md., All-American Skip Wise, a whiz who was voted as the top guard in the nation by a panel of college coaches which included UCLA's John Wooden.

Darlington's 6-6 Colon Abraham scored over 28 points a game as a prepster and Williston's Jim Howell, at 6-5, averaged 27 a game, and no doubt the entire incoming frosh foursome will give the vets a run for a starting berth this season.

So the 1974-75 Tiger cage slate looms to be the most exciting year yet in Clemson basketball history.

GEORGE McAFEE — Duke University: One of the greatest football players the game has known is Duke's George McAfee. He is one of the few football players in America that have been selected to both the National Football Foundation's Hall of Fame and the Professional Football Hall of Fame. After a fantastic career at Duke, including many All-America honors, McAfee went on to star for the Chicago Bears of the NFL. George Halas, the long-time owner and coach of the Bears, still includes McAfee in his all-time Chicago Bears backfield. McAfee is also a member of the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame. Following his playing days with the Bears, McAfee returned to Durham and is the owner and president of an oil company. He has also been very active in the Durham community affairs.

JOHN MACKOVIC — Wake Forest University: The name, John Mackovic, is well-known as far as Wake Forest football goes. John was the quarterback, who along with Brian Piccolo, formed one of the most productive (offensive) seasons ever at Wake Forest in 1964. In many of those games, John and Brian combined to score all their team's points. But that wasn't all John did . . . he was an ACC Scholar Athlete award winner; a member of the ACC All-Academic team; and a student leader. Since leaving Wake, John's been an assistant football coach at West Point, served on active duty as an Army reserve officer; received a masters degree in secondary school administration at Miami of Ohio; and served as the offensive backfield coach at San Jose State. At the present time, John is offensive backfield coach at Arizona State.

TED HAZELWOOD — University of North Carolina: Ted Hazelwood was a hero on some of North Carolina's greatest football teams in the fabulous Charlie Justice era of the 1940s. He's been a success ever since. Hazlewood now lives in Cobourg, Ontario, Canada, where he is employed as a Director of Planning and Programming for Winchester Canada, a firearms company. He formerly played professional football and worked for the Winchester Firearms Company of the United States. Ted's hobbies are hunting, fishing and trapshooting. He was selected as an All-America professional trapshooter in 1963. Hazelwood starred on the 1947 Carolina team which won its last seven games by wide margins.

HUNTER FAULCONER

TOM BARTON — Clemson University: Tom Barton came to Clemson from a two-year hitch in the Navy which he pulled after his Lancaster, S. C., High School graduation. At Clemson, where he picked up the name "Black Cat", he was a second team All-America guard and was selected to play in Chicago's All-Star game in 1953 after two bowl appearances with the Tigers. From high school coaching and teaching to public school administration in 1959, he earned a masters degree from Peabody College in 1960 and his doctorate from Duke in 1972. Barton is now president of Greenville Technical College. With an annual enrollment of over 20,000, the college has become a model for the nation in innovative instructional methods in business, industrial, technical, allied health and college transfer areas.

JOHN D. GILMORE — University of Maryland: John Gilmore was Maryland's last four-sport letterman. A 1943 graduate, he captured the Southern Conference high jump championship as a sophomore and also won letters in football, basketball and boxing. Today, John is a very successful lawyer in suburban Maryland. He is a partner in the firm of Nylen and Gilmore. In 1970 the friends of John Gilmore established a Scholarship Fund in his name at the university. A portion of the prerequisite for the scholarship notes that "the recipients should possess, as does John D. Gilmore, outstanding dedication, determination, and an undeniable will to win in athletic competition and to succeed in life."

HUNTER FAULCONER — University of Virginia: Hunter Faulconer, a three-year football letterman from 1927-29 for the Virginia Cavaliers, has been over the years one of the guiding forces in Virginia athletic and alumni affairs. During his football playing days he drop-kicked Cavalier extra points and was a regular halfback. He was also a member of the basketball team. A native of Lodi, Ohio, he moved to Charlottesville following graduation and has been active in the real estate, contract and building, and the farming business. He has been an officer or director of the National Bank and Trust Company, the Jackson-Park Hotel Corporation, the Jefferson-Lafayette Theatres, and is a past president of the Virginia Student Aid foundation as well as the Virginia Alumni Association.

DICK DeANGELIS

DICK DeANGELIS — N. C. State University: A member of the Wolfpack's first ACC championship football team in 1957, Dick DeAngelis is as famous now for flattering a pizza pie as he was for flattening opposing ball carriers during his three-year career as a defensive tackle. A member of the South squad in the North-South Shrine game in Miami following the '57 season, Dick currently is president of Amedeo's Italian Restaurants and South Hills Twin Cinemas, Inc., of Raleigh. He coached football for five years in his hometown of Reading, Pa., after graduation from State, then returned to Raleigh to enter private business and help coach the Wolfpack frosh. The man who claims that he got into the restaurant business because he liked to eat his own cooking, now only serves as chef during rush hours, concentrating chiefly on organizational and supervision.

A Man of Many Talents

Red Parker keeps the football team going, Capt. Frank Jervey works his crossword puzzles, Bates Locke takes care of the dribbles, Bill McLellan makes the ultimate decisions, but when it comes to doing almost anything else except making an administrative or coaching move, Bob Smith is close around.

Smith came to Clemson in February, 1950, as a member of Frank Howard's coaching staff. Actually his prime concern was to teach the Tiger football team how to defend the many T-formation teams Clemson was beginning to encounter. The Tigers were still a single wing team.

Whether he planned to stay long or not, Smith was a member of Howard's staff 20 years until the latter retired at the end of the 1969 season.

He was then named manager of athletic facilities and when coach Bob Jones retired as assistant to the athletic director this past June, Smith assumed that post. But he is still very much involved with athletic facilities. And he has been right in the middle of Clemson's biggest athletic expansion.

Cornering most of his time the last couple of years has been the construction of the Jervey Athletic Center, which has now been occupied a year. Literally thousands of things had to be checked in the new building. Maybe it was a slight adjustment to make a door shut, possibly a malfunction in the air condition, or static electricity in the carpet, or a secretary was having trouble opening a filing cabinet. The cry of "Where's Coach Smith?" was not uncommon.

Before a basketball game, bleachers, VIP seats, press tables and the like must be in place. Prior to a football game, the field must be cut, lined, and as on today's game, extra bleachers installed. Practice fields in all of the sports must be kept in top condition. When it doesn't rain, the sprinkler system must be set up.

Since many of the Clemson soccer matches and baseball games are played on Sunday, many last minute details must be tended to. It all boils down to a seven day a week responsibility and on call 24 hours a day.

During the past summer and early fall Smith's big project was bush hogging and beautifying the banks of the old Seneca River which still holds a pool of water from seepage of the upper Hartwell Lake dike and winds around by the baseball field, the 22-acre golf driving range (which doubles as a parking lot on football weekends), then by the football practice fields and on down by the new all-weather, nine-lane track. It is planned to put picnic tables underneath the trees lining the river bank.

Visitors who tour the multi-million dollar facilities of the Clemson Athletic Department are treated to many eye openers. Not only are they almost second to none found anywhere, but they are well kept and maintained for maximum use.

This is because Bob Smith changed hats after 36 years of coaching and never lost his intensity to excel in whatever he was doing.

Grass is checked on golf driving range.

An irrigation system is ready when rain fails to come.

Everything is ready for the big game.

IPTAY = SUCCESS

For the 10th consecutive year IPTAY funds have increased over those of the previous 12 months, and IPTAY '74 has just ended as the most successful year in the 40 years of the organization's history.

The club poured in 113 per cent of its goal from Sept. 1st, 1973 until the August 31, 1974 closing date, and the figure exceeded the previous year's amount by almost $100,000.

Moreover, in attaining the record-setting mark, every single county in South Carolina reached its respective quota, as did the State's of North Carolina and Georgia. Additionally, the other states, including foreign country contributions, reached 110 per cent of their established goal.

Colleton paced the Palmetto State counties with 189 per cent, followed by Dorchester (140), Chester (138), and a fourth-place tie among Aiken, Calhoun, and Marlboro with 137 per cent.

Next in per cent came Williamsburg (129), Dillon (127), and Cherokee and Edgefield with 123 each.

Again, Greenville County raised the largest contributions of any other county in the state with $96,700, ahead of Richland's $57,220.

The top 10 was rounded out with Pickens ($49,890), Anderson ($44,820), Spartanburg ($39,780), Greenwood ($19,610), Florence ($19,340), Lexington ($16,560), Orangeburg ($15,270), and York ($14,060).

The late Dr. Ruppert H. (Rube) Fike organized IPTAY in 1934 with one purpose in mind—to finance athletic scholarships. And since that date, not one single penny has gone for anything else other than scholarships for Clemson's 11 intercollegiate sports.

Thousands of student athletes have received an education because of IPTAY which may not have otherwise been possible.

Lewis Holmes, as president, led IPTAY '74, and thanks to his efforts, those of his officers, and of the more than 400 IPTAY representatives, our goal was met.

The simple equation: planning + execution (know-how, teamwork, stamina, desire) = success. And, continuing success leads to Number One. Every team that gets to be Number One uses this formula to perfection. It also is the concept that has sparked the go and grow of Sandoz Colors and Chemicals. One key element in this goal calls for a largely expanded and completely modernized laboratory, warehouse, and office facilities in Charlotte to meet the growing needs of the textile industry in the Southeast.

IPTAY--

Special Recognition

For the first time in the history of Clemson IPTAY, every county in the State of South Carolina, as well as North Carolina and Georgia, went over the 100 per cent mark in their 1973-74 quota. Altogether, nearly $680,000 was raised during the year and it marked the 10th straight year an increase was seen in funds contributed to the club.

This was the third straight year that over a half million dollars had been realized by IPTAY. Every penny received by IPTAY since its beginning in 1934 has been used for athletic scholarships only.

On the following pages, we have listed those people and business organization who are being recognized by their permission for their interest and continued support of IPTAY.

If you're itching to fly but don't have the scratch, the Air Force may have the answer. One of the benefits of Air Force ROTC is flying lessons. Enroll in Air Force ROTC, you're off, and the sky's no limit.

If college tuition money is a problem, Air Force ROTC may once again be the answer. If you qualify, you may find you can get one of the many college scholarships Air Force ROTC offers. And that would mean full tuition, lab and incidental fees, textbook reimbursement, and a monthly allowance of $100.00.

Not a bad deal. Flying lessons, free tuition, and $100.00 a month, tax-free to use as you like.

Sound great? Ask me how you can put it all together in Air Force ROTC. My name is Col. Duncan W. Rabey, Jr., and I'm on campus at Tillman Hall, Third Floor, Ext. 656-3254.

Put It All Together in Air Force ROTC.

Oh, My Aching Legs

Anyone wishing to get in shape or staying in shape should contact Mercer Burns in Clemson.

Fans sitting on either side of Aisle F in Memorial Stadium probably have noticed a gangling youngster racing up and down the steps during the game and have possibly thought that he was a cross country prospect getting ready for the season.

In reality, Mercer is running polaroid pictures from the press box to the sidelines showing various offensive and defensive sets which the coaches study during the game.

Making 6 to 12 trips a game keeps Mercer's waist line trim. There are 152 steps from top to bottom, but he doesn't hit all of them coming and going, about every third or fourth one.

Mercer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burns of Clemson. His father is associate director of the Clemson Communications Center.

Where the Tigers play;

Here the sons of dear old Clemson,

Over the years, Zenith color TV has earned a reputation for dependability and picture excellence no other color TV can match.*

And today's Zenith solid-state Chromacolor II backs up that reputation with a combination of features no other color TV can offer.

The famous Chromacolor picture tube that set a new standard of excellence in color TV. A patented Power Sentry voltage regulator that protects components. And a rugged, 100% solid-state modular chassis for long-life dependability.

It's the best way we know to make sure, at Zenith, the quality goes in before the name goes on.[®]

CHROMACOLOR II

*For the third straight year, a nationwide survey of independent TV service technicians has named Zenith, by more than 2 to 1 over the next best brand, as the color TV needing fewest repairs. The same survey rated Zenith as the highest-quality color TV, as the one with the best picture, and as the one service technicians would buy for themselves today. Survey details on request.
